

Formotion

Road King Stem Clock

Remove the stock cover from the steering stem/fork lock on your Road King. This cover just slips over the stem and can be easily 'pried' off with a small screwdriver or small pocket knife.

Remove the two flat head screws found underneath the cover you just pried off and set them aside.

Holding your Formotion Road King Stem Clock in your hand, loosen the center screw with the supplied HEX key that holds the clock to the mounting apparatus. This screw can be found from the back side of the Stem Clock. Just loosen it a bit so the clock can turn, you don't need to remove it. This is done so that you can line up the 12:00 position properly.

Now place the Road King Stem Clock on the stem/lock and align the Road King's Stem Clock holes with the holes on the stem/lock itself. Using the two screws you set aside earlier, tighten the unit to the bike. Close the Clock cover and adjust the clocks 12:00 o'clock position where you want it. Without rotating the clock any more, swing open the clock cover and remove the two screws again. Now tighten the center set screw to position the clock firmly at the desired position and remount the unit. Done.

As a note: It may be necessary to grind off some of the key's corner a bit to gain enough clearance between the clock housing for the key to fully engage into the lock.

To change the battery, remove the Allen Head screw in the base and remove the clock from the unit. You will need to take the clock to a jeweler to replace the battery as the battery is located under the rear clock cover and requires a jeweler's tool to change. Or you can send it to Formotion Products Inc for repair and replacement. (Fee's may apply). The battery is a SR626SW.

The center button atop the 12:00 position, when pushed, operates the internal E.L. Light for 4-5 seconds for night viewing. The knob to its right is to set the time. Like a wrist watch, pull the stem to set the time and push it in to start the watch. All Formotion clocks are design to withstand harsh conditions and are fully waterproof. No special attention is necessary in wet conditions.

Thank you again for your purchase. We want you to be completely satisfied and if for any reason you are not, please contact us immediately.

Formotion Products Inc. 30 Liberty Ship Way, Sausalito CA 94965 415-331-0400